Supporting evidence for leave request

I understand that it is my duty as a parent/carer of a child who is of compulsory school age and registered at school that I am responsible for ensuring that my child attends school regularly. If I fail to do this I understand that I am guilty of an offence and may be given a penalty notice or prosecuted under section 444 of the Education Act 1996.

What is the law on school attendance?

All schools, including independent schools, must maintain an Admissions Register and all schools except boarding schools must have an Attendance Register. The Registration \(Pupil Registration\) Regulations 2006 require a school to put the child's name on the Admissions Register on the first day that the child is expected to attend school. If the pupil does not attend, they will be recorded as absent – this can be authorised or unauthorised.

A school will authorise an absence if:

- The child is too ill to attend and the school has been notified (If the child is off for long periods the school might ask for proof from the doctor);
- The parent has got the advance permission of the school and is deemed to be exceptional by the Headteacher
- The child has a medical or dental appointment (However, unless the appointment is an emergency, all efforts should be made to arrange an appointment out of school hours. The should may also ask for evidence of the appointment.)
- The child is on study leave
- The child is being educated off-site
- The child has been excluded
